Quick Overview

S Schoology	SKYWARD Skyward
Information needed BEFORE assignment is turned in (due dates, resources for learning, etc.)	Information AFTER the assignment has been turned in (scores/grades earned on assignments, overall course grades, list of missing work, etc.
Classroom Materials: "Worksheets", Pictures, Videos, Assignment Descriptions, Turn-In Basket	Official Record: Term grades, Attendance, Graduation Requirements, Lunch Account$, Health Records
Ignore Schoology reports about overdue assignments and grades.
• Overdue in Schoology means you child may have submitted a physical copy of the assignment instead of electronic.	• Skyward is where you look for grades and information about missing assignments.

Checking Skyward once a week is plenty.

Schoology Expectations

As an Islander Middle School student...

I understand that Schoology is for educational purposes only.

I may be using Schoology this year for online discussions, accessing materials, checking assignment due dates, submitting work, taking assessments, receiving notices from the IMS library and additional opportunities for learning, collaboration, and communication.

I will practice being safe online while using Schoology.
The information I post online will not include personal information (such as my birthday, phone number, address) nor will I provide information that would allow someone to know when my family will be away from home or places I will be at on various dates
(ex: Lacrosse practice Wed. nights at the Lid).

I will follow our school expectations when I contribute.
My Schoology posts will be in complete sentences, I will only upload school appropriate content, and I will limit my use of my of emojis because they can distract others as they try to read the information posted. I will also keep the preferred name category of my account blank unless my teachers know me by another name (ex: My name is Nathan, but I prefer to go by Nate).

I will be respectful of myself and others.
In our online learning environment, I will stop and think before I respond to my peers to make sure my responses are respectful, my contributions will follow school rules, and I know that once information has been posted online there is always a digital record of what was said.

I will be mindful of my audience.
Course updates are a great place to ask questions or share information with the whole class, but information only my teacher needs to know should be sent in a message or wait to be said in person.
